

R A Y T R U M B O

I'm extremely fortunate to be making a living doing something I truly love. Not just a job, but a career I've loved for the last 20 years. While the professional environment is always changing, the one true constant is the passion I have for being a Graphic Designer.

A quick summary of who I am and how I got here... in 1994, after graduating with high honors with degrees in Advertising Design and Journalism, I moved from California back to New Jersey - where I had several opportunities waiting for me.

After my first few years working as a Consultant and Freelancer, I was presented with the opportunity of taking the plunge into Corporate America. It was then, working with Novartis Consumer Health, Inc., my professional life changed forever.

In just a few short years, I expanded the work I was doing from OTC packaging to covering all facets of design and production within Novartis. I soon became the "go-to" designer for a Fortune 100 Company with hundreds of people in need of services.

All of those hard-working years in Corporate paved the way to where I am today... an independent Designer, running my own Studio, with an always growing list of clients and associates.

I have my own Office but always take advantage of In-house opportunities when they're presented.

With the combination of more than 20 years hands-on experience and my ever-growing passion for design, I'm an asset to any team I join. I'm fast and accurate, always thinking outside the box but without losing sight of who the intended audience is and what message needs to be conveyed.
